

SEMI Training Suit

C.P.E. has the new SEMI suit ready for the market from January 2013. The concept has been tested by different professional end users and the feedback is very good. The suit is made for semi/ half contact training and cannot replace the FCT where even Steel batons can be used.

SEMI is made as a module suit meaning you can train with different parts depending on the goal for the training.

Removable inner liner

Full contact Leg guards

The unique inner liner can easily be taken off for cleaning has also a very good effect for cooling down the body due to the air-floating; C.P.E. has filed in a Patent for the system.

The Thigh Guards have huge area of covering.

The Elbow & Forearm Guards cover also part of the upper arms. The Multi glove give the user very good protection and allows the user to hold different weapons due to the inner glove and design.

The Chest Guard has extra flaps which cover the hips and those overlap with the Thigh guards if they are used. The flap covering the lower spine and seat is very important if the user falls backwards against hard and sharp objects.

The unique Throat protection prevent attack weapons like training knives to slip into the face, it can easily be taken off if needed.

The SEMI suit comes with a carry bag designed as a rucksack.
